

Chirp Chirp

Posted on Jun 26, Posted by Lois Lowry Category Uncategorized

When I was a kid, I had a Great-Aunt Mary whom I loved but who I thought kind of batty because she was a bird-watcher. And now look at me, here with my binoculars, all excited because today there are rose breasted grosbeaks and purple finches at the feeders.

~~hitherto Chirp Chirp profile of the bird is the black and white bird with a red patch on its breast. The bird is perched on a branch.~~

~~Black and white cat sitting on a cat tree. The cat is looking towards the camera. The cat tree is made of wood and sisal rope.~~